Taiwantrade.com to present smart home, robotic, e-health and IoT offers at CES 2019

CES2019 is just around the corner, and Taiwantrade.com, Taiwan's most prominent B2B portal, will present a collection of IoT, smart home, robotic, and e-health products from excellent Taiwan consumer electric makers at South Hall 20636 of the Las Vegas Convention Center from January 8 to 11.

AIFA is among the 10 companies that will be introducing their latest innovations at the Taiwantrade.com exhibit. With over 20 years of experience in creating universal remote controlled products, AIFA will be showcasing the "i-Ctrl Smart HomeKit" at this year's event in Las Vegas. Also joining the exhibit will be Maker hart Industrial Corp., a master of electronic and digital music technologies. The company will be demonstrating its newest audio mixers featuring advanced sensors and digital interfaces to empower the creative process for professional DJs and artists as well as everyday enthusiasts.

The Taiwantrade.com exhibit will be joined by many other innovators just like AIFA and Maker hart who are dedicated to developing solutions that make everyday life
